

ALL THE BEAUTIFUL THINGS

A.M. Lewis • Mar 2024

4 WEEKS.
12 HOUR DAYS.
KICK-ASS CREW.

1

2

3

4

1

2

3

4

1

1/6

2

3

1

2

3

92 MINUTES.

4 PRINCIPLE PERFORMERS.

5 CLAY DOGS.

1 SNOW LEOPARD...

SCENE 1

SCENE 2

SCENE 3

SCENE 4

SCENE 5

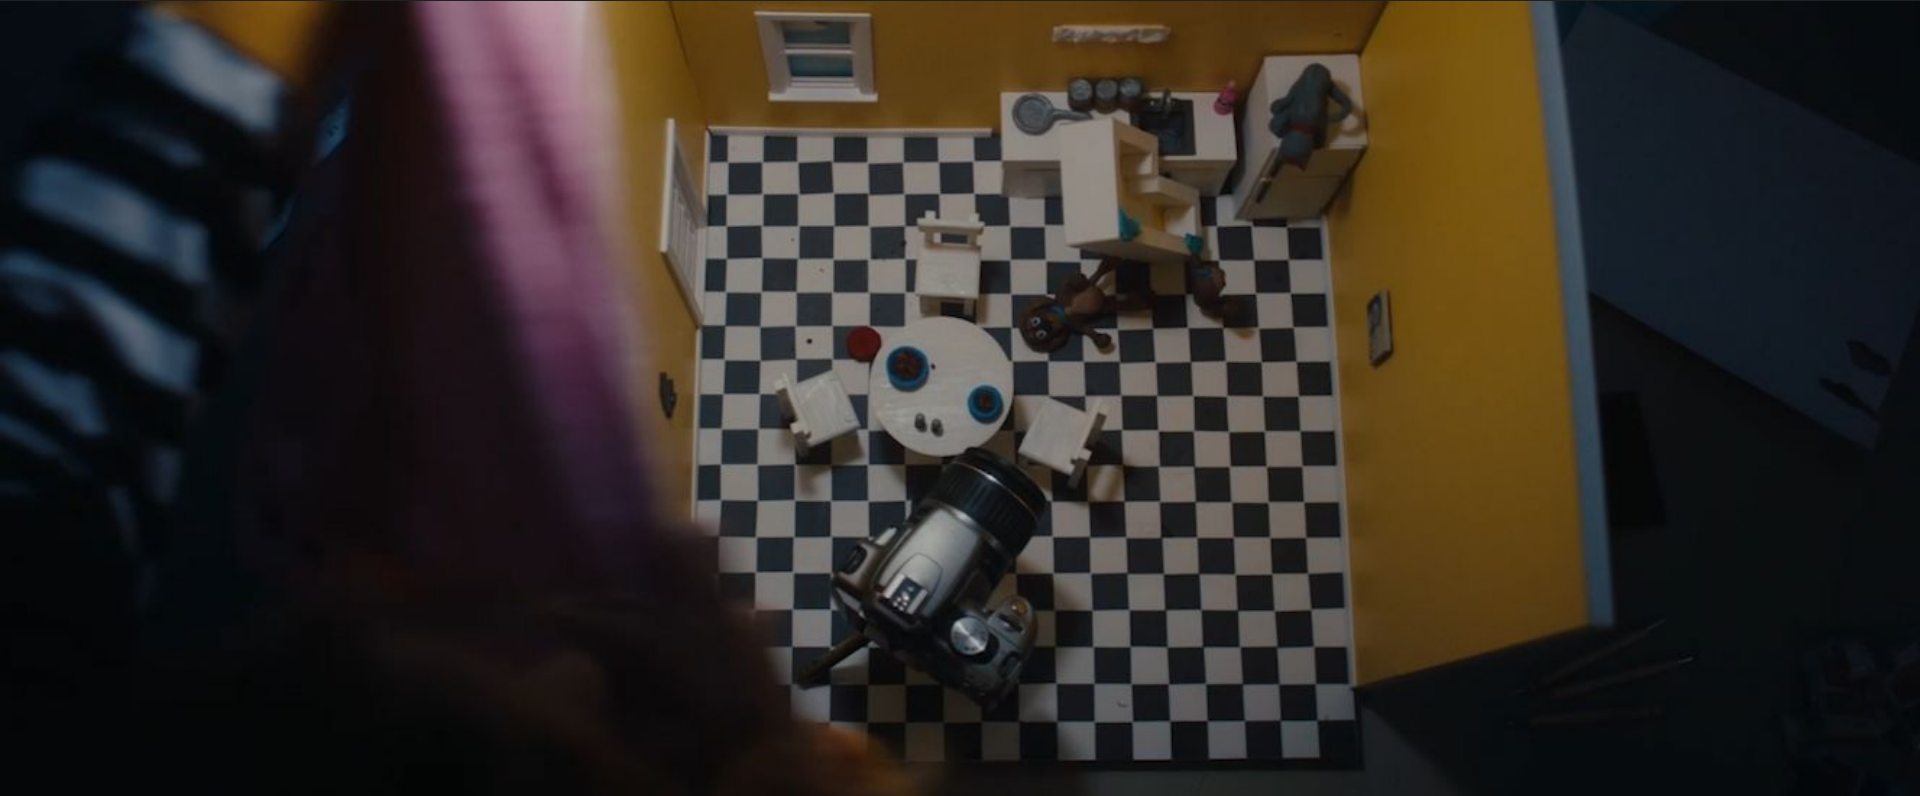

SCENES 6/7

SCENE 8

SCENE 9

SCENE 10

SCENE 11

SCENE 11

SCENE 12

SCENE 15

SCENE 16

SCENE 17

SCENE 18

SCENE 19

SCENE 20

SCENE 21

SCENE 23

SCENE 24

SCENE 25

SCENE 26

SCENE 26

SCENE 28

SCENE 29

SCENE 31

SCENE 32

SCENE 36

SCENE 37

SCENE 38

SCENE 39

SCENE 40

SCENE 41

SCENE 43

SCENE 46

SCENE 48

SCENE 49

SCENE 51

SCENE 52

SCENE 53

SCENE 54

SCENE 54

SCENE 54

SCENE 55

SCENE 57

SCENE 59

SCENE 60

SCENE 61

SCENE 62

SCENE 63

SCENE 64

SCENE 64

SCENE 64

SCENE 64

SCENE 65

SCENE 67

SCENE 67

SCENE 68

SCENE 69

SCENE 70

SCENE 72

SCENE 73

SCENE 74

SCENE 75

SCENE 75

SCENE 76

SCENE 77

SCENE 79

SCENE 80

SCENE 81

SCENE 81

SCENE 81

SCENE 81

SCENE 81

SCENE 81

SCENE 81

SCENE 81

SCENE 81

SCENE 84

SCENE 84

SCENE 87

SCENE 92

SCENE 1

SCENE 94

SCENE 94

Theme & Target Audience

Private, Test-Audience Reviews Covering Story

"Before I begin, I should say I am very picky about movies. As a person who grew up with a severely depressed and alcoholic mother, this movie hit me so hard. It was a normal occurrence for me to come home from school and try to wake my mom up from a drunk nap and half the time thinking she was dead. When I started my spiritual healing journey, this was a major part of my childhood trauma that I had to deal with. The denial of the anger of the whole situation. I've always been able to feel, sense, see, and experience others' pain as my own. So, even as a young child being sympathetic to her, but always having this deep seated angst and just wanting a "normal mom." That was a huge leap letting all that go. Like I want to show my sister this movie immediately as I know she struggles still. I cried my eyes out mostly the whole movie. The acting, the visuals, the dialogue, the song at the end. It was so cathartic! And you perfectly captured the depths of dealing with this level of depression and manic emotional instability in a parent. Your movie is an absolute masterpiece. And has impacted me deeply. Amazing work."

--Amanda X

Colorado Springs, CO resident

“The subject matter of the film inspired me so deeply and the fact that the story is written from an insider perspective is obvious in its themes and execution. Your film was particularly powerful to me, given that my own mother has struggled with mania and chronic depression so often in recent years. It is such a validating, beautiful, inspiring, and important story. It is raw and poignant and new--similar to another indie film that spoke to my experience called Paper Spiders, but your film goes more into depth around tough subject matters like dissociation, alcoholism, and chronic depression. It also shows how depression can so often be hidden by a happy facade, which I relate to. It isn't often that I'm moved so deeply. I cannot wait until it's actually done.”

—Sophie X

Boulder Colorado Resident

hard to watch but it was also very helpful... I want to send it to my brother right now since he struggles similarly to Joey to accept his anger as valid and his processing methods (or lack thereof) aren't always tolerable. Maybe Joey's grief could help him with his own. When this premieres, I'll definitely be coming with my little brother."

—Ella X. Colorado Springs Resident

I have had the privilege of viewing this important film in its current version and am beyond impressed by its potential to have a meaningful impact on those who have experienced mental health challenges... My personal connection with this film is profound. I live with Bipolar 1 Disorder. Tragically, it took me several years to achieve the wellness I now enjoy. My greatest regret is the impact my illness had on my young son during those years. The privilege to see a film that explores the experience of a child as she survives and flourishes after the tragedies of a parent's mental illness and suicide has helped me to move towards closure. I am most grateful to A.M. Lewis for her courage to create art from her own journey. I believe, that like me, others will be graced by her film...I am looking forward to the completion of All the Beautiful Things and the opportunity to invite those living with mood disorders whom DBSA-CS serves to its premiere,

—Rhonda Greder, President of DBSA-CS

Unique Story and Form

CLIPS

DIRECTING REVIEWS (at bottom of LinkedIn page)

Thank you for your time! :-)